

On the Berry-Esseen theorem for random dynamical systems

Yeor Hafouta ¹,

¹ Ohio State University

We will shortly review recent results concerning optimal (uniform) convergence rate in the central limit theorem for Birkhoff sums generated by several classes of random expanding or hyperbolic maps together with a sufficiently regular random observable. These results are obtained using certain type(s) of thermodynamic formalism for random complex transfer operators.